The Go-to Gear Mat By Cocoon Innovations

April 21, 2017 - by Melody Wren

Stream line your technology for travel. We all do it...glance at a cable, one end, the other end, and cram it into the tablet, the laptop or the smartphone, hoping it's the right one. I scrunch all the cables together, thinking they are streamlined, wrapping elastic bands around them, wishing someone could label them and hoping they all stay tightly bound, and not tangle. Decisions on what tech to take and what to keep becomes easier with the Cocoon Grid-it mat.

A flat mat made up of wide elastic slots keeps everything including phones, iPads, iPods, battery packs, USB sticks, cables and cameras for anyone that still carries one. It's versatile enough that you could use it for toiletries, pens, pencils, lipsticks, and eyedrops. It is the new goto gear mat for anything you can imagine packing. Different sizes and widths of elastics make anything possible. Low price points have me coveting them for every eventuality. I envision my gear slotted in, then packed in my carry-on to keep everything together, or parked alongside me while I drive or navigate a boat. Toss it in my laptop case so everything is together and not much else is needed. Travel efficiently, neatly and organized with a Grid-it mat. Highly recommended.
