We all have luggage tags that include the necessary contact information. Mine also has a Canadian flag on it.

However, Calpak Power has released a new luggage tag that attaches to your carry-on and charges your phone en route. When you arrive, remove it from your case, and toss it in your purse or pocket to charge on the go. There is an insert you can personalize, a removable battery charger, charging cord and adapter.

These tags come in a variety of colours and patterns. My favourite is the Chanel style pale pink and gold in faux leather.
