I admit I often buy a few too many items when I travel and panic because I don't have the luggage space, usually opting for carry-on only. This fold-up tote bag to toss into my suitcase or use as well as my carry-on is the answer. It's feather-light, folds up and zips into a compact pouch. Slide it over your wheeled luggage or throw it in as an extra bag to carry your savvy souvenirs home.

You can toss it over your shoulder or slide its smart trolley sleeve over your rolling bag to get through security in a flash. Once on board, it easily fits inside the overhead bin or underneath the seat in front of you, so you can keep those on-board snacks close at hand. The lightweight, durable nylon means this folding bag does it all. Reinforced webbing handles are strong enough to handle daily wear and tear without adding any bulk. Once you're done, simply fold it back into a flat compact pouch for easy storage. It weighs less a pound, features a two-way zipper and can be monogrammed.
